After you log in, you will be taken to my home page. You will see multiple widgets, such as settings, news, and my courses. You can change your preferences in my settings. Click the preferences button to access; you will see 6 tabs; you may or nay not have all these options. The first option is CD Rom, typically you don’t have to change this. Then we have appearance and accessibility, this is where you can change your font settings; it is recommended that you keep the font at its default. The next section is language and regions where you can modify your calendar. Next we have time zones, then we have discussion settings. The discussion settings change from course to course as well. We can change them all right here. Then, we have email options to change your settings for D2L email only. Then, we have pager, which more than likely you won’t have to use, but you can change the preferences for the pager in the work area below.
